Disaster area?

No, not a disaster area; just the building site of the new radar weather station going up on the air base. The main building in the background is photographed through some of the prefabricated steel soon to be erected to form part of the tower. Access stairs will rise around the three sides of the tower when the facility is completed.

Museum needs auction items

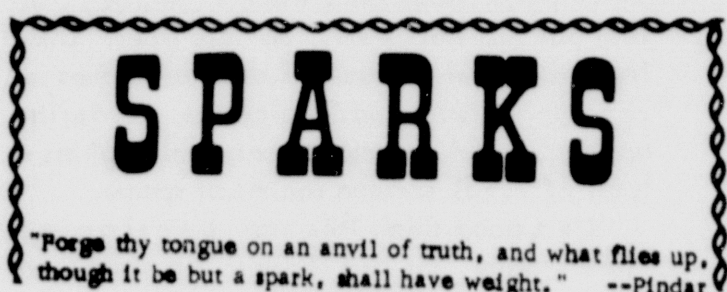

Details of the Antique and Collectors Auction to be held in connection with Museum

Day kept members of the Museum Day Committee busy Monday night.

A dire need for items to be auctioned was the main point brought out. "We need for anyone who might have anything they will donate for the auction to please contact Fritz Leinweber, Sis Graff, Cappy Heyen, John Wentz or the Anvil Herald," General Chairman Burnis Lawrence said. Plans were made to have two work crews on duty at the Auction on Museum Day. "This will give everyone an opportunity to get over to the Armory and participate in the

CLEAR UP CONFUSION

When the Hondo City Council set up the new place system for voters they left me a little confused, so to speak.

In fact last week I had Tommy Santos in the wrong Place. He is running in Place 1.

But so as to keep from confusing everyone else I'll give you a complete rundown on how it goes: Mayor -- George L. Brucks and Will J. Ney, Jr.; Alderman Place 1 -- A. D. Patterson, Linda Weaver, Tom E. Santos; Alderman Place 2 -- G. P. Chapman and Jesus Rodriguez.

There now, I hope I have everyone against the right opponents. And I hope it means something to enough people so that they will get out and vote in the election.

WELL, MAYBE SO

A while back I commented on the brief stint in business of the E&B Chicken Plucking Company and expressed hope that we might have businesses of longer tenure in Hondo.

Elmo Pope tells me, by the way of an ad in this issue of the Herald, that he and Al Tom Schiffer have been partners in the Hondo Implement Co. for over 30 days now

Rapist sentenced to 25-year term

Elpidio Esquivel, Jr. pled guilty in Uvalde Monday to the December 1969 rape of a young mother. After waiving a jury trial, the defendant was sentenced to 25 years in prison by District Judge Ross E. Doughty.

Before the sentencing, the state heard testimony from three witnesses; Medina County Sheriff C. J. Hitzfelder, the victim, and her husband.

Esquivel had been granted a change of venue from Medina County to Uvalde County by Judge Doughty after the defendant's lawyer contended his client could not get a fair trial here.

A second indictment charging sodomy against Esquivel is still pending in district court here, but District Attorney Earle Caddel of Uvalde said he felt that charge would be dismissed.

Civil suit answer filed

Defendants in a $15,000 civil suit growing out of the killing of two hogs have filed answers in district court here.

Donald Muennink and Ronald Blackwell of Hondo deny allegations in the suit that they killed the hogs without authority belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Arias of Hondo.

Harold E. Baecker, the other defendant, said in his answer that he was a resident of Victoria County when the suit was filed, and asks that it be transferred to that county.

At the time of the incident, Blackwell was a Hondo policeman and Baecker was stationed here with the Texas Highway Patrol. Muennink is a private citizen.

Rape indictments are also still pending here against two other defendants in the case.

They are Jesse V. Mendoza, Jr. and Dionicio Esquivel, Jr. Both were juveniles at the time of the alleged crime, but were indicted after becoming of age.

New equipment brings a smile

Mrs. C. E. (Juanita) Hackebell has reason to smile as she shows off a line of display type set on The Hondo Anvil Herald's new Compugraphic type setting machine. The new equipment sets type for our headlines and ads from a typewriter keyboard, and is many times faster than the old machine it replaces. Type from the machine appears in today's issue. While the old, slower machine could easily be lifted by Mrs. Hackebell, her new Compugraphic weighs around 300 pounds. The Compugraphic was installed Friday morning. Type is set by a flashing light passing through a negative onto light sensitive photographic paper. From one negative about 2 1/2 by 15 inches, Mrs. Hackebell can set eight different sizes of type, each size in two styles. The Anvil Herald has six different negatives.

Assault charges filed against four

An apparent altercation in Devine last week Sunday between two Hondo residents, a highway patrolman and a deputy sheriff has resulted in charges being filed against all four.

Charged with aggravated assault by Patrolman L. L. Lewis, Jr. in Medina County court are David Loera and Gerardo S. Cortez. In turn, aggravated assault charges have also been filed by Cortez against Lewis and former Medina County Deputy Sheriff Bob Brown of Devine.

According to a Medina County official, the charges and counter charges stemmed from a high speed chase through Devine last week Sunday.

The official said Lewis pursued the Hondo pair, and called for help on his radio with Brown responding.

Loera and Cortez were subsequently arrested, and all four involved were charged with aggravated assault Monday morning.

County commissioners meeting last week Monday were informed by Sheriff C. J. Hitzfelder that Brown had been dismissed as deputy sheriff. Hitzfelder told commissioners the Sunday incident was only one reason consider-

Abutment rips sedan open

A Del Rio airman lost his life about midnight Monday when his sedan hit a bridge abutment in D'Hanis. The impact ripped off the left side of the car, throwing Mario A. Mendez, 44, out of the vehicle. The Texas Highway Patrol said Mendez was an NCO at Laughlin AFB, and was westbound when the accident occurred. The body was taken to Guinn-Horger Funeral Home in Hondo.

Letters to the editor

Proposed amendment on ethics called deceptive and misleading

Editor, Anvil Herald
Dear Sir:

The proposed Constitutional Amendment to place legislative pay and legislative ethics in the hands of a commission beholden to the legislature is misleading, deceptive and deserving of contempt and repudiation by Texas voters.

A code of ethics governing conduct in office is already an existing law. Needed reforms can be accomplished by statute, rather than by a misleading Constitutional Amendment which calls for "private" disclosure of finances, the right of the Legislature to reject any of the Commission's recommendations, and which still fails to provide any method of enforcement.

It should be noted that during all the recent hue and cry about questionable actions and windfall profits to some of our highest officials, no meaningful effort was made in either the House or the Senate to determine whether any of its members or officers were guilty of violating existing laws or the public trust.

Instead, a majority of legislators--for reasons known only to themselves--dodged their responsibility for investigation and possible housecleaning and concocted a scheme which a Dallas News Correspondent labelled "...a way to redeem themselves with the voters and make a dollar in the process..." a succinct description of the proposed Amendment # 1.

At this point, one duty confronts Texas voters: The resounding defeat of the falsely-labelled "ethics" Amendment on May 18 as an outspoken reminder to our legislators that they were elected to serve us rather than themselves--that only by meeting the requirements of a rigid code of ethics will they merit the public confidence implicit in a pay raise.

Dear Sir:

Will you please discontinue my paper for at least 2 or 3 months as I'm going to have eye surgery March 23rd.

Will write later when to continue it. Many thanks as I hope to have it sent again. I'll miss the paper.

Yours truly,
Mrs. E. Kennedy

Dear Mr. Lawrence:

I want to thank you for the nice coverage you gave me in the Hondo Anvil Herald. I think the details on the depot was excellent!

And I want to thank you for the editions you sent me. However, so many of my friends and relatives (which are many) want a copy. So could you send me 6 more copies if they are still available. Also, would like to have the negatives of the pictures you took at City Hall. I'll be glad to pay for them. I still think this should be in the Austin paper as I feel it would create interest in the May 1st Museum Day.

I will have an exhibition in Castroville April 17th at Landmark Inn (weather permitting).

Enclosed is an envelope for the 6 pictures -- I do not need the entire paper, just the front page or the clipping of the picture and write-up.

Hope the check will cover all expenses.

Sincerely,
Eva Huesser

Dear Mr. Lawrence:

I am pleased to send for your attention three statements from the Congressional Record that represent part of my effort to maintain the Military Assistance to Traffic and Safety program in our area. Newspaper reports and letters on the air medics' great service were so impressive that I was pleased to share their content with other members of the House of Representatives.

As you know, three departments of our government have co-operated in this service. Now the time approaches when the Secretaries of Defense, Transportation and Health, Education and Welfare must decide if the MAST efforts are to continue. I am doing all I can to get continuation approved. I find two very compelling reasons why this service should be continued. The first: medical care has been significantly upgraded for accident and emergency cases through helicopter transport. The second: the men of the air ambulance service are getting valuable training without any added taxpayer expense.

I have met with officers preparing the official review of progress to date, and am encouraged to believe they will recommend maintenance of the MAST program. You might want to add your voice, and even encourage readers to write to the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of Transportation. Should you choose to reprint these articles from the Congressional Record or quote from them, you can help this effort.

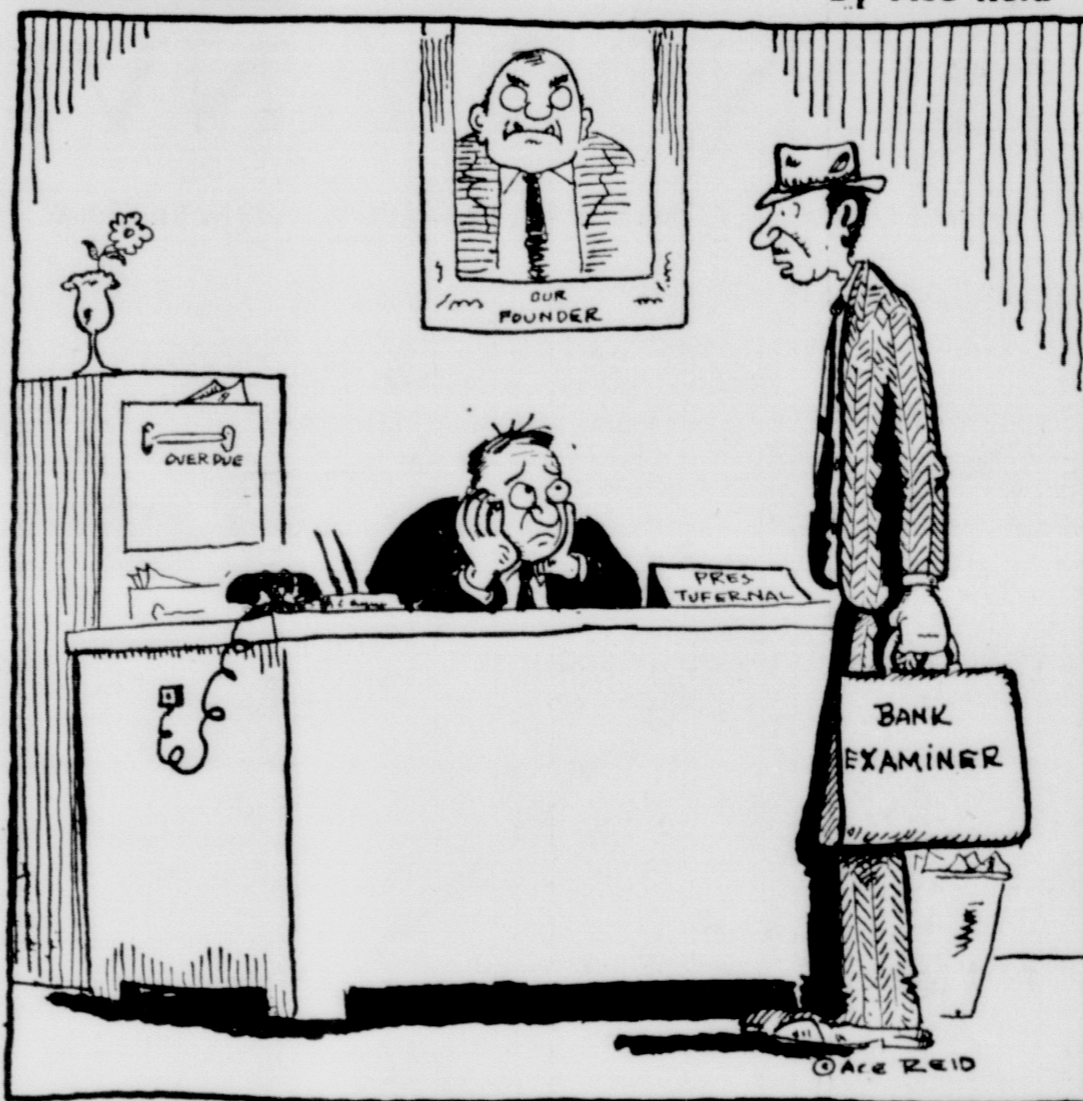

I am most grateful for the support many of you have already given, and am pleased to join you and our fellow citizens in seeking to maintain this life-saving air rescue service.

Sincerely,
Abraham Kazen, Jr., M.C.

Daylight Savings Time legislation coming up

By John H. Poerner, State Representative, District 49

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME -- Those in opposition to the theory of Daylight Savings Time marked a victory this week when H. B. 506 and H. B. 237 were reported favorably out of sub-committee. You may recall, H. B. 506 would exempt the State from the provisions of the Standard Time Act while H. B. 237 is a non-binding referendum in 1972. Hopefully, we can obtain enough votes on the Floor of the House to pass this legislation where it will be handled by Senator Connally in the Senate.

Other than the airlines and stockbrokers being in opposition to it, I have been informed by the Texas Bankers Association that they are in opposition to the measure. The Bankers Association has indicated a possible economic impact on rural banks and their farm and ranch business customers because of a one hour disadvantage in negotiating federal funds. My thought would be that it may be an advantage if you are dealing with a West Coast bank.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION -- House Bill 226, by Nugent, amending the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act, has many new features of the Workmen's Compensation Law. Texas has been advised by the Federal Government that each state must adopt enabling legislation pertaining to Workmen's Compensation. There is a choice. The state may elect not to enact enabling legislation and thereby causing its employers to pay an additional $330,000,000 in Workmen's Compensation fees or enact the legislation and have the federal government pick up the tab.

The hooker in this option is that the Texas Employment Commission is financed by money from the federal government at a cost of about $330,000,000 per year. If the State enacts the legislation desired by the Federal Government, then they will continue to pay the cost to administer the Texas Employment Commission. This is done by Federal Act stating that the lowest rate will be 3.2% to the employer regardless of experience rate. The many employers, who have not had employees file on them, presently are paying about 1%. H. B. 266 would permit the employer to gain this credit because of non-filing by previous employees and thereby reducing the cost for unemployment considerably.

The choice seems to be a great one -- either go along with the federal people or be crucified by taxation. It's hardly a choice.

A STATE GRASS -- Senator Ratliff introduced Senate Concurrent Resolution 31 establishing sideoats grama as the official State Grass of Texas. This resolution was sent to the Livestock Committee in the House where there were several comments raised about the possibility of this grass being prevalent all over the State of Texas. The resolution states that it is in accordance with the recommendations of the Texas Council of Chapters, Soil Conservation Society of America, and the Texas Section, American Society of Range Management.

As a result of the lively discussion to make certain of state-wide adaptation of the "official state grass" Committee Chairman Tom Holmes appointed a sub-committee of myself as Chairman, Representative J. E. Ward of Glen Rose, and Representative Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches to receive other recommendations for the "official state grass" or any comments from citizens around the state in regard to adopting sideoats grama as our standard-bearer for grasses in this state.

The sub-committee encourages comments from anyone interested in this subject and I can assure you that those comments from the 49th Legislative District will certainly be heard.

ABORTION -- I was quite optimistic that no member of the Legislature would dare introduce a bill to liberalize abortion in Texas. We were safe until March 9, when Representative Sam Coats of Dallas introduced the bill. This is three days before the deadline of free introductory bills as, after March 12th, bills can only be introduced with approval from the entire House of Representatives. Representative Coats is a Freshman and I am hoping that his political persuasiveness may be limited in the securing passage of this unwanted legislation.

RANCHERS KNEW HIM

The recent passing of John Bunyan Blackwell of Moore marked the loss of a friend to ranchers in the Southwest. In 1916, Blackwell invented the Blackwell burner to rid prickly pear of those spines so that cattle could eat them.

Blackwell, a resident of the area for 63 years, had worked as a cowboy, rancher, teacher, mail carrier and was an ordained Baptist minister. He founded churches in San Antonio, Castroville and other places.

MUSTACHES: YES OR NO

Taking a look around I am pleased to see the number of people getting into the swing of things by growing a mustache for Museum Day May 1.

I know I will miss some, but I am going to attempt listing those I have seen. If I miss you let me know, because with the number of dropouts we have from the idea, I sure like to list those who are trying. I have seen: Pete Pedroza, Tony Mendoza, Johnny Joe Mendoza, Salvador Leyva, Floyd Saathoff, Rocky Sedgwick (???), John Wentz, Fred Johnson. Give me names of others, will you!! George Brucks started one too!

AUCTION ITEMS

If you notice a saddle on top of my filing cabinet don't believe the people in my office when they tell you I am going to ride the cabinet to Museum Day.

The saddle is a gift to the Auction by Joe Brucks. Joe says it belonged to his father, the late John Brucks. He thinks his father had it 30 or 35 years and it was used when he got it. . . Mrs. Olin Haby brought by two boxes of bottles and old jars; Kermit Wolf, a lead melting pot and dipper; John Wentz, some telegraph insulators; they make welcomed items to the auction list. . .

A MATTER OF PRIDE

In patting ourselves on the back during the past football season at Hondo High School, we at the Anvil Herald felt we covered the Owls "pretty well".

This past week on a whim I decided to find out just how well. So here goes: During the season we ran 627 column inches of copy on football and 92 pictures covering another 1,304 column inches; which gives a total of 1,931 column inches of space.

It's a good thing this was considered "free" space, for had it been charged as commercial advertising it would have cost a gross total of $2,162.72.

I am satisfied that we "did our job well" in providing the football and school with the publicity they well deserved. We do know in devoting so much space to high school football we had to leave out stories and pictures on other happenings.

We did not leave them out because they were unimportant, but simply because we sincerely believed our coverage would be beneficial to football.

IRRIGATION ON THE RENE AELVOET FARM

. . . Water is being applied in furrows to crop just coming up. This land has been leveled so water can be applied evenly without waste or erosion.

Irrigation activity increases

By Claude Thompson
Soil Conservation Service

The shortage of beneficial rainfall for the past year has created an increased anxiety among farmers in the Medina Valley Soil and Water Conservation District. This has caused increased activity on their part to supplement water requirements by irrigation.

This can be seen in the fact that more new wells than usual have been developed. Also pumps have been repaired or replaced and irrigation pipelines have been installed to deliver and control irrigation water. It also appears that there is more activity in pre-plant irrigation than normal.

While the lack of rainfall indicates soil moisture levels are low, this does not necessarily indicate the amount of moisture needed to rewet the soil. When soils reach their moisture-holding capacity, additional water is wasted. The amount of moisture held in the top four feet of soil is the basis for determining the amount of irrigation water needed for best crop production.

This entire layer must be examined to find how much water is needed and how much can be used without waste.

Most irrigated soil in this district will hold two inches or more per foot of depth or about eight to ten inches in the top four feet. Moisture in the top foot of soil does not give a true picture since this layer is subject to rapid changes during dry and wet periods. The moisture in deeper layer is important at planting time since this is where more stable moisture is held in reserve.

Where fields were irrigated late in the previous season the soil may have remained moist in the deeper layers. In such cases a pre-plant irrigation of two to four inches will completely rewet the soil to its maximum stable water holding capacity. But if the previous crop used up deep moisture as much as six to eight inches may be needed to insure normal crops.

Another factor to take into consideration when considering how much water should be used in pre-planting irrigation is the probability of spring rains. To take advantage of rains, farmers have to leave room in the soil to store the water. This means that soil can not be completely saturated by pre-plant irrigation or the spring rains will be of little value.

Methodists plan special offering

There are many investments which a church can make. But on certain special occasions the church can make what is probably the most valuable investment of all -- an "Investment in Love." The One Great Hour of Sharing is such an occasion. How does a church make an investment in love? By showing people all over the world that it cares that they are hurt or hungry or homeless. The One Great Hour of Sharing offering is the means through which the United Methodist Church shows this concern.

This special offering, to be collected on March 21, goes for one purpose -- to help ease the suffering caused by natural and man-made disasters around the world. All of the proceeds from the One Great Hour of Sharing offering will go to the United Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief for its work of relief and rehabilitation -- its work of love.

Clean-up Crusade rules

Members of Hondo Garden Club have planned their annual Litterbug campaign for the week of March 29 thru April 3 this year. They have asked that all Hondo residents be 'Clean-Up Crusaders' now through April 3.

1. A CLEAN UP CRUSADER will keep clean and neat at all times.
2. A CLEAN UP CRUSADER will keep his school-room and schoolyard clean by seeing that all litter is thrown into waste cans. He then qualifies as a BEAUTY BUG.
3. A CLEAN UP CRUSADER will ask thoughtless 'litter bugs' to cooperate.
4. A CLEAN UP CRUSADER, by personal example, will do all he can to influence students and adults in maintaining a clean neighborhood.

Please, won't you be a CLEAN UP CRUSADER and BEAUTY BUG?

United Gas honors Hondoans

David McGraw, local representative; Charles Foster; and Miss Georgene Deckert of the Hondo Office of United Gas were honored at a meeting held by the company in San Marcos on March 2. The three played important roles in helping the South Texas Division of United win the Company's 1970 gas air conditioning sales contest, and earned membership in United's exclusive Who's Who honor society. Pictured (l-r) are Jackson C. Hinds, president of United Gas, who made the awards presentation; Mr. K. H. Foote, district manager from Sinton; Miss Deckert; Foster; and McGraw.

Freemasonry in County

by Yancey Russell

Frontier Regiment
The Texas Almanac, 1857-1873, says the Frontier Regiment was raised pursuant to an act of the Legislature December 21, 1861, subject to Confederate States rules and regulations. Its officers were appointed by the Governor, and companies were enrolled to serve twelve months beginning March 15, 1862, occupying a chain of stations through the counties of Clay, Archer, Young, Stephens, Calahan, Coleman, Brown, San Saba, McCulloch, Mason, Gillespie, Kerr, Bandera, Uvalde and Dawson, to a point on the Rio Grande in Kenney county. It was under command of Col. Charles M. Norris of Coryell county. Charles de Montel of Medina county was captain of Company D.

In December, 1863, the Legislature declared the territory embraced in a number of West Texas counties, including Medina, to be in the Frontier of the State, and it was divided into three Military Districts in January, 1864. Medina county was in the Third District, with Brig. Gen. J. D. McAdoo in command. The Medina county detachment listed Capt. George Robbins' company of 56 men, and Lieut. A. Weber's company of 22, a total of 78 men.

Several of the lodge members listed in the military service in 1863 received the degree of Master Mason in the same year. They and others raised that year included P. T. Adams, Ambrose Crane, W. H. Davenport, George S. Johnson, Sr., Ross Kennedy, James B. McLe-more, George Meyer, W. C. Newton, George W. Patterson, Francis Rooney, T. E. Taylor and W. M. Watkins. Those who received the first degree were B. J. Brice, J. G. Brown, W. D. C. Burney, J. W. Cooper, I. C. Davenport, Thomas Pafford, and J. H. Stiegler. Three petitions were rejected.

Ross Kennedy, of Uvalde county, was born in County Monaghan in North Ireland in 1826, according to the "Twentieth Century History of Southwest Texas," (Lewis Pub. Co., 1907) He arrived in New York in 1848, made his way Westward and enlisted in the U. S. Army for five years. Attached to a Western frontier unit, he attained the rank of sergeant, and fought Indians in Southwest Texas during most of his tour of duty. He returned to New York in 1857 and married Miss Jane Rankin, the sweetheart of his youth, who also was a native of Monaghan, Ireland. They moved to Uvalde county and he engaged in ranching. During the Civil War he was a freighter, hauling cotton and other supplies from Texas to Mexico for the Confederacy.

John Leakey, Master Mason who was raised in Cibola Lodge No. 151 at Selma, Tex., affiliated with Hondo Valley Lodge No. 252 on December 12, 1863. He established a sawmill on the Frio river, producing cypress lumber and shingles which were hauled by ox team to the site of many pioneer buildings, including the first Frio county courthouse in Old Frio Town in 1872. The town of Leakey, now county seat of Real county, was named in his honor.

George S. Johnson, Sr., is listed in the U. S. Census as a resident of New Fountain, age 36, farmer, native of Mississippi. James B. McLe-more of D'Hanis, age 21, was a native of Mississippi, according to the U. S. Census.

Indian Raids

The history of Southwest Texas during the later years of the Civil War reflects that Indian raids on settlements became more frequent, since many of the men eligible to bear arms were away in the military service. It was on April 15, 1864 that Rubin C. Smith, Junior Warden, was slain. He was the first departed brother to be buried in the little cemetery a few hundred feet from the lodge building on the Hondo, marking his final resting place, still standing to this day, is a grave marker of durable white stone about three feet high, on which is engraved the Masonic square and compasses upside down. Under this is the inscription: "Sacred to the memory of R. C. Smith, who was killed (correct) by Indians April 15th, 1864. Was Junior Warden of Hondo Lodge No. 252 from its organization until his death aged 28 years." The word killed is spelled with only one "l" and the last two letters "s" are backward, otherwise the carving is perfect.

The returns of the lodge for 1864, in the column under the reading "Deaths," had the notation, "Gen'l. Remarks: April 15, R. C. Smith killed by Indians." The returns were signed by J. W. Cooper as secretary, and listed the following officers: G. W. Robbins, W. M.; John Kennedy, S. W.; R. C. Smith, J. W.; I. Jones, Treasurer; O. H. McOmber, Secretary; W. M. Watkins, S. D.; T. E. Taylor, J. D.; S. A. Long, S. S.; W. H. Burrows, J. S.; G. S. Johnson, Sr., Tiler. There were 33 Master Masons listed as members. Reed and William F. Smith were reported still in the Confederate service, as were George Redus, Tilley, Burney, and Pafford.

Writing paper was scarce in those days, and the lodge returns dated February 15, 1866 were written on the reverse side of a ledger sheet for the Consolidated Morning Report of Commanding Officers of military units of the U. S. Army. . . a printed form required to be completed and filed with the Adjutant General's office . . . perhaps a trophy of war brought home by a soldier. John Redus drew penciled lines on the blank reverse side of this sheet and wrote the following note at the bottom: "Please excuse this paper as tis best I can get. Please send blanks returns."

The returns he wrote covered the year 1865 and listed the following officers: N. M. C. Patterson, W. M.; W. M. Watkins, S. W.; O. B. Miles, J. W.; G. S. Johnson, Sr., Treasurer; J. W. Cooper, Secretary; I. Jones, S. D.; J. Kennedy, J. D.; Frank Schuler, Tiler. A total membership of 49 was reported. The only death listed was that of J. H. Stiegler.

New Master Masons listed were George Hay, George Calvert, A. B. Dillard, W. S. Hiler, John L. Harper, William Kelley, Theophilus Watkins, H. T. Renkin, (sometimes spelled Rankin), John Ney, John Spears. (Note: It is not clear whether the John Ney listed here was a member of the well-known Ney family of Medina county, however the returns of 1867 list a Jo Ney, and in the following years the name is listed as Joseph Ney.)

Ney Family

It is interesting to find that the "Twentieth Century History of Southwest Texas," (Lewis Pub. Co, 1907) says John Ney, founder of the family in Medina county, was a native of Prussia, veteran of Napoleon's army, and participated in the Battle of Waterloo. He was a nephew of Field Marshal Ney of Napoleon's staff. He and his family joined Castro's colony, locating near D'Hanis. Minutes of Commissioners Court show that John Ney was granted citizenship on August 2, 1858. One of his sons was John, Jr. and another was Joseph.

Joseph, a native of Prussia, received his schooling in D'Hanis. He went to San Antonio, worked in a bakery, later was employed by Gov. Peter H. Bell, saved his money and returned to D'Hanis to establish a grocery store. On August 16, 1858 he was elected county commissioner of Precinct No. 3, a position in which he served for three years. In addition to ranching interests, he managed the stagecoach stand in D'Hanis, served as postmaster, and during the Civil War mined for saltpeter for gunpowder from mines in both Medina and Uvalde counties. He served as county commissioner again in 1877, and in 1882 was elected sheriff and tax assessor-collector of Medina county.

That's all she wrote

by Edna McDade

According to the calendar, Spring arrives officially next Monday, March 21. Unofficially, but with convincing circumstantial evidence, the gladsome season has been around these parts for some time, limping along sans rain and keeping the sprinklers working overtime.

At the ARNOLD ZERRS on Ave. I, a huge bed of candytuft, larkspur, verbena, Dutch irises and daisies is getting ready for a wide-screen show, in technicolor. The daisies have been "spoken for" to be used in a May wedding. Since "daisies won't tell", do your own guessing as to whose it will be.

Some new apricot and peach trees have been added to the orchard. A vegetable patch gives promise of home-grown vitamins in home-cooked meals.

Pleased as the Zerrs are to "talk garden", what really gets the conversation started is the pending return of their twin granddaughters, Kelly and Kim, who were born in Germany March 6, 1969, and whom they have never seen.

The twins' parents, T/SGT. BERNARD (and JO MARY) ZERR, are scheduled back home, via a Florida visit en route, on the 29th of this month. Their next station will be Randolph AFB and guess whose grandparents couldn't be happier?

DONNA, 9, and the youngest in the R. J. and DORIS KOCH trio, of Corpus Christi, is among those rejoicing in the retirement of Mrs. JACK (Ida) SHARP, after her dedicated decades of teaching in this community.

"Now," said Donna reassuringly, "You can finally devote all your time to being a grandmother!"

Another son of the ROBERT (Nettie) KOCHS is S/Sgt DONALD S. KOCH, now on duty with the Air Force in Vietnam. His wife, LINDA, and their four daughters, KELLY, LORI, CINDY and CHRISTY live on Ave. O.

Cindy attends the Strunk-Duncan Kindergarten and goes all out for patriotism, aware that Daddy is overseas doing his duty for his country.

When her Grandmother Koch decided to make a cape for the 5-year old, Christy was allowed to choose the color. Naturally, it was a tri-colored red, white and blue--including the buttons which the proud wearer had wished could be stars or flags.

The L. E. (Eve) DUGGERS are boosting recent improvements on Ave. M by adding a "Georgia stone" exterior to their home. New walks have been installed and some of the shrubbery and trees removed. "Now we can see outdoors from indoors," says Eve.

The ALFRED (Ella) BRUCKS home on 28th Street was putting on an overcoat of bricks when I returned from my Lancaster visit. Now the work has been completed and wasn't Ella lucky not to have to "shop" for a contractor to do it -- at the family price?

I heard several Garden Club members comment on what a good program EDRA (Mrs. V. H.) CROW presented at their meeting last week.

Her talk was sparked by her delightful good humor when she told her audience that she had discovered, the hard way, why she had found such a bargain in party hose.

Trying to don them posed a problem. One foot turned one way, the other in the opposite direction.

Confessed Edra, "I decided they must have been made for me because so often I don't know whether I'm coming or going!"

OSCAR SAUER of LaCoste was accused of "hauling pigs without a license" last week. Truth of the matter is that he was delivering a mama pig and her baby to Hondo National Bank where they are being fattened for the Museum auction on May 1.

Among the many things The Walrus talked about in the "Looking Glass" story was "whether pigs have wings".

One thing for sure, the Museum pig banks do have good appetites. Remember to help keep them appeased, won't you?

KRME

Well, hello everybody and welcome back to another edition of FLIP SIDE. We have a big night of country fun coming your way Saturday night. Ronnie Mason and the Mason Knights will be picking and playing from 9:00 p.m. 'til 1:00 a.m. at the American Legion Hall west of Hondo on Hi-way 90.

Ronnie's band has come a long way from when they first started. The latest addition to the group is a steel guitar player that will make your ear wax melt.

Call up your friends and make plans now to attend. Beer, set-ups and soft drinks will be available inside and ample parking space outside. Listen to the Ronnie Mason Show and my program for your chance to win a free ticket to the dance.

On the TOP 20 Survey, we find Charlie Pride's "I'd Rather Love You" number one. Charlie who calls home the Fort Worth-Dallas area, has been singing country music since he was knee-high to a jack rabbit in his native Mississippi.

We have been getting quite a bit of response on the 15 minute Ronnie Mason and the Mason Knights program. The show is heard every Saturday at 5:05 p.m. on KRME. Many people would like to see the show expanded to 30 minutes. If you would like to see this happen, send us a card or letter to the Ronnie Mason Show, KRME Radio, P.O. Box 447, Hondo, 78861.

Well, it's about that time again. It's back to the news room and record library for another show.

Until next time, be good and remember I'll always be with you on the 1460 spot on your a.m. dial.

"Who fears to offend takes the first step to please." Ciber

Junior GI Forum plans for April

The Junior G.I. Forum held a meeting March 14. We discussed how much money we raised from the chicken sale we had on March 14.

We also discussed the function day on April 24, to be held at Guadalupe grounds. The dance at night will be at the athletic hall.

We have more plans to make because we want to raise enough money for at least 25 of our members to go to the convention in Ft. Worth.

H.E.B. announces top level changes

H. E. Butt Grocery Company, operators of 121 supermarkets in Texas, announced today the promotion of Joe L. Brown to the Positions of President of the five H. E. Butt Store Property Companies, Executive Vice President of H. E. Butt Grocery Company, and Chairman of the Board of Texas Gold Stamp Company.

Brown, who resides at 20 Hewitt, Corpus Christi, is also a Director of H. E. Butt Grocery Company, Trustee of the H. E. Butt Employee Profit Sharing Trust, Chairman of the Employee Trust's Real Estate Investment Committee, and President of Austin Shopping Center, Inc.

Brown, 56, a native of Alabama, attended public schools in Birmingham, Alabama, and Birmingham Southern College during the Depression Years. In 1928, he began a grocer's career at the age of 13 with The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in a very small service store. (Brown recalls that he had long legs and could take seven steps from one wall to the other side of the store. "We added up the grocery bills with pencils on a paper bag.") He worked for A&P through high school and college, serving as a relief manager of stores during the summer at the age of 17.

After college, Brown became manager of a neighborhood store and married one of his pretty young customers (the former Madlyn Clyde Leftwich). The next move was to manager of a large downtown A&P store. At 22, he became assistant superintendent with 19 stores to supervise. In 1939-40, the supermarket era began, and Brown asked to be a part of the new merchandising venture. After one year, he was assigned to head the supermarket division of A&P in Birmingham, Alabama.

At the end of World War II, Brown moved to Houston and headed the Houston Division of A&P, with stores from Lake Charles, Louisiana, to San Antonio. The Brown family -- wife and two boys -- headed west in a pre-war Plymouth with slick tires. After the war, Houston boomed and development was fast. "Site locations were readily available and leases easy to make, and we opened 10 to 12 new stores per year."

In September, 1947, Joe L. Brown became vice-president and director of a Houston food chain -- Henke & Pillot, Inc. Again, big development opportunities were available, and many new stores were opened in Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange.

In 1952, the Brown family of three boys and a nine-month old daughter moved to Corpus Christi and Brown became assistant to the president of H. E. Butt Grocery Company and later senior vice-president. His duties have encompassed a wide range of general management activities.

Services include being past president of Texas Merchants Association, former member of State Agriculture Commission and YMCA Board, former member of Downtown Kiwanis, member of Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce, former member Community Chest Board of Directors. Brown is a 32° Mason and Shriner. Services to St. Luke's Methodist Church include past chairman of the official board, former member of Building and Finance Committees, and currently a Trustee.

Brown and his wife have three children -- Joe L. Brown Jr., now a food executive in Fort Worth, Robert C. Brown, now Credit Manager of General Electric Credit Corporation in Corpus Christi, and Martha Brown, a sophomore at Southern Methodist University.

H. E. Butt also announced the appointment of Duane Peters as Executive vice-president of the company. In his position, Peters will be general manager -- Retail Store Operations and Merchandising.

Peters, 50, is presently executive vice-president of Ralphs Grocery Company, Los Angeles.

In announcing the appointment, an H. E. B. spokesman noted that "H. E. B. is pleased to bring an executive of Peters' wide background and experience into the organization."

During the past 8-1/2 years at Ralphs, Peters held the positions of director of store operations, vice-president of merchandising in charge of buying, merchandising and advertising, vice-president and general manager and executive vice-president.

Prior to his affiliation with Ralphs in California, Peters had a rising career with Red Owl Stores, Minneapolis, Minnesota. During World War II, from 1941 to 1947, he was in the service of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Peters attended college in Mankato, Minnesota, and in 1964, graduated from the Executive Program of the Graduate School of Business Administration at UCLA.

Peters is a past president of the Sales and Marketing Executives Club of Fargo, North Dakota and is presently a vice-president of that club in Los Angeles. He has been active in both Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, Chamber of Commerce work and the Lutheran Church.

Peters is married to the former Ruby Jensen of Jamestown, North Dakota. They have two children: a son, Jay, 23, a senior at San Diego State College, and a daughter, Wendy, 19, a student at Pasadena City College.

The Peters family will be moving to Corpus Christi soon.
